

security patrols & alarm response

Titanium Security Australia's Patrol Division operates across metropolitan and regional areas every minute of every day. The primary objective of the company's Patrol Division is to protect the property and physical assets of clients by deterring and detecting criminal activity, maintaining a strong physical presence and conducting extensive internal and external lock-downs and security checks as well as attending alarm activations.

The company's Patrol Officers are proficient at conducting patrols for all types of premises including industrial, commercial and residential sites. Depending on each client's individual security requirements; Patrol Officers are able to conduct both minor and major patrols, varying from an extensive lock-down of premises to an external check.

Titanium Security Australia's dedicated patrol fleet is coordinated via our 24-hour control centre. The expansive patrol fleet is constantly monitored by an integrated GPS tracking system as well as 'dash cam' video recording technology.

To ensure service traceability, Patrol Officers log their patrol visits using the UniGuard Patrol Management System. Clients are given access to a detailed reports outlining service delivery including dates and times of calls as well as the number of patrols performed to ensure that service requirements are being consistently met, ensuring accountability. Titanium Security Australia is also at the forefront of the security industry in regards to reporting; with the company developing its own reporting system, T.R.A.P (Titanium Reporting Activity Portal) which provide clients with security response details of any occurrence or incident at their premises in real-time and in detail.

Titanium Security Australia's Patrol Division not only conducts patrols, but also attends alarm activations. Titanium Security Australia can be contacted by your alarm monitoring company for a fast and efficient first response. The company has multiple cars in localised areas in addition to GPS despatching technology, ensuring a rapid response to any call out in any area at all times.

If an alarm is activated at your premises, a Patrol Officer will attend and conduct a thorough check of the site to ascertain the cause of the alarm. The cause may be a genuine break and enter, in which case every effort will be made to apprehend the offender and prevent further damage or theft. The Patrol Officer will make contact with the Police if necessary. In cases where an alarm activation is not caused by criminal activity, the Patrol Officer will re-arm the premises before locking-up.

Titanium Security Australia utilises the latest alarm reporting software on in-car laptops. This alarm reporting software has resulted in industry leading improvements to the way on-site occurrences and incidents are actioned and reported to clients. The alarm reporting software enables the Patrol Division the capability to email incident reports and alarm response outcomes to our customers in real-time. This efficiency in reporting has resulted in improved security outcomes and enhanced direct communication between the Patrol Division and our clients.

Titanium Security Australia's quality assured patrol and alarm response services operate 24/7, with the primary focus of protecting our clients and their property. We deliver peace of mind by ensuring that your premises are taken care of when you're not there.
